

Predicting house prices is an important task in real estate market that affects the decisions of many stakeholders.

- Traditional price predictions are often based on historical trends, comparisons and expert opinions. However, Machine learning can predict key values using various data points
- This may include features such as location, square footage, number of bedrooms and bathrooms, lot size, etc.
- This system will assimilate all these features using machine learning algorithms such as Random Forest, etc.